Management is responsible for the preparation and presentation of these condensed interim financial statements in accordance with IAS 34, 'Interim Financial Reporting' that is endorsed in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on these condensed interim financial statements based on our review.

Scope of review

We conducted our review in accordance with the International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity" that is endorsed in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. A review of condensed interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing that are endorsed in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the accompanying June 30, 2024 condensed interim financial statements of Dar Al Etiman Al Saudi Company are not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with IAS 34, 'Interim Financial Reporting' that is endorsed in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Net servicing liability under agency agreement

Under the securitization and agency agreements, the Company has been appointed by the financial institutions to service the purchased receivables. Where the Company is appointed to service the derecognized financial assets for a fee, the Company initially recognizes either a net servicing asset or a net servicing liability for that servicing contract at its fair value.

The fair value of net servicing asset/ liability is determined based on the present value of estimated future cash flows related to contractually specified servicing fees less servicing costs.

The primary determinants of the fair value of net servicing asset/ liability are discount rates, estimates of servicing costs and the fixed servicing fees. The management assesses the cost of servicing including salaries and other direct costs. The annual change in the servicing cost represents the increment to the servicing cost as a result of inflation.

Variations in one or a combination of these assumptions could materially affect the estimated values of net servicing liability.

19. CHANGES IN PROR PERIODS

During the year ended December 31, 2023, the management of the Company identified certain transactions and/or events which had not been appropriately accounted for in the prior periods. Consequently, the management corrected the corresponding balances while preparing the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2023. Some of these incorrect accounting was also reflected in the financial statements for the period ended June 30, 2023. In preparation of the financial statements for the period ended June 30, 2024, the management has restated the corresponding balances and amounts recognised in the "condensed statements of profit or loss and other comprehensive income" and the "condensed statement of cash flows" in accordance with the appropriate accounting treatment that is commensurate with the nature and substance of such transactions and events.

Below is the list of all the matters identified by the management during the year ended December 31, 2023 where the accounting was not performed appropriately. Impact of these adjustments, in so far as applicable to these condensed interim financial statements have been adjusted in these financial statements. For details of the impact of the foregoing adjustments on the financial position of the Company as at January 1, 2023, please refer to the annual financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2023:

- a) Management has identified certain reconciling items between the cash at bank balance carried in the Company's books relative to such balances as confirmed by the corresponding banks are not recoverable. Accordingly, such amounts have been charged to the income statement in the respective periods in which they arose with a corresponding credit to cash at bank balance.
- b) Management has identified certain amounts which represent direct deposits in its bank balances whereby such amounts although reflected and confirmed by the corresponding banks have not been captured in the balance of cash at bank held in the Company's books. However, management is unable to determine currently the exact identity of the counterparty and purpose of such deposit. Accordingly, management has increased the balance of cash at bank held in the Company's books by such amounts in the period in which they have arisen with the corresponding credit to other liabilities.
- c) Management has identified certain accruals recognised in prior periods which are in excess of the amount required to fulfil the corresponding obligation at each reporting date effected by such excess provisions. Accordingly, management has reduced the related provisions by such excess amount with a corresponding credit to equity.
- d) Management has noted that for leases that have been early settled, the interest income of future period subsequent to the early settlement has been included in the statement of income as part of income from finance leases. Moreover, the amount of such interest that has not yet accrued and not contractually collectable by such early settling customers has been correspondingly reflected as an expense as part of other operating costs. Accordingly, management has rectified the erroneous accounting treatment by reducing the unaccrued and uncollectable amount from the income from finance leases as well as the amount included within other operating costs.

19. CHANGES IN PROR PERIODS (continued)

- e) In respect of the finance leases of motor vehicles, the Company acts as an agent to arrange for the insurance of such vehicles on behalf of the lessees. In this respect, the Company makes the payment of the insurance charges to the corresponding insurance company and collect such charges from the corresponding lessees. Management has identified that the insurance charges in relation to the vehicles that has been leased by the Company has been presented separately from the corresponding amount collected by the Company from its lease customers. Accordingly, management has rectified the erroneous presentation by including both the amount of insurance collected from the lease customers as well as the insurance charges paid to the insurance providers within the same line item included in the statement of income (income from finance leases).
- f) Management noted that a lease arrangement spanning beyond one year period entered into in prior year has not been appropriately accounted for under IFRS 16. Accordingly, management has duly recognised an appropriate depreciation on right of use asset and finance cost on lease liability in respect of this lease arrangement.
- g) Management has identified that certain lease portfolio sold in prior period under securitisation arrangement has not been appropriately accounted for in lieu of the corresponding terms and conditions of the sale. In this respect, management has noted that significant risk of the leases sold under such securitisation arrangement had neither been transferred nor retained by the Company. Moreover, since the control of the leases has been retained, the Company was required to retain such proportion of the lease portfolio sold that commensurate with the Company's continuous involvement therein. Accordingly, management has reinstated the balance of leases to the extent of continuous involvement in the relevant respective period together with the corresponding credit towards liability.
- h) Management noted that the recoveries against write-offs made previously, were erroneously presented as other income within Income. Management has rectified the error via including such recoveries within net (reversal) / charge for expected credit losses.
- i) Management noted that certain amounts received from the insurer of vehicles (subject to leasing) as incentives for the fleet / bulk insurance has been erroneously presented as other income. The foregoing has been transferred to Income from finance lease.
- j) Management has identified that in prior periods, cashflows from / used in net investment in finance leases was erroneously presented under investing activities in the statement of cashflows. Management has rectified the error by presenting the foregoing cashflows as part of cashflows from operating activities for all periods presented in these financial statements.

The errors have been corrected by restating each of the affected financial statement line items for prior periods. The following tables summarize the impacts on the Company's financial statements.
